

Should we let government tell us what we can read?

Of course not. We can read whatever we choose because of the limits the Constitution places on government's ability to restrict our freedoms.

So why should we allow local government to limit where we shop? Or how much of a store's floor space can be used to sell groceries?

The simple fact is that when competition is suppressed and choices are limited, prices go up and business goes elsewhere.

Flagstaff's cost of living is already one of the highest in the state; the anti-business, anti-competition, anti-choice restrictions in Prop 100 will only make it worse. Vote NO on Proposition 100.

Choice is a freedom worth keeping.
